REPORT FROM HEADQUARTERS:

This month many of us have been absorbed in establishing a school for the children. It is at the request of the children that we do this, and for that reason it has been a pleasant and easy job. Last year, a small class operated the whole winter in the Village school room (65 Scott #1). It was this first experience which gave us enough knowledge with which to proceed into this year. Today the Family Home School System includes about 50 children. Preschool is in the homes of participating parents. They hope to eventually find a permanent place for the preschool, where equipment can be kept and where the children will have plenty of room to play. Kindergarden is in the Village school room four mornings a week - the fifth day there is a field trip. We want to develop a physical education program for the kindergarden in the future.

Primary school operates in two sessions. Each session uses the school room all afternoon for one week; the next week classes are held in family homes and workshops. Advanced students receive special tutoring. This way the children have one week of concentrated academics in the school room and one week of elected subjects with their favorite family specialists. The subjects elected thus far are French, geography, sewing, cooking, carpentry, theater, exercise and roller skating. Stephanie Hiller and Eddie Lepier are our dedicated full time teachers. They work without salary, but they have requested that we pay $25 per child initially, and $15 per month per child afterwards, to make it possible to buy classroom and athletic equipment.

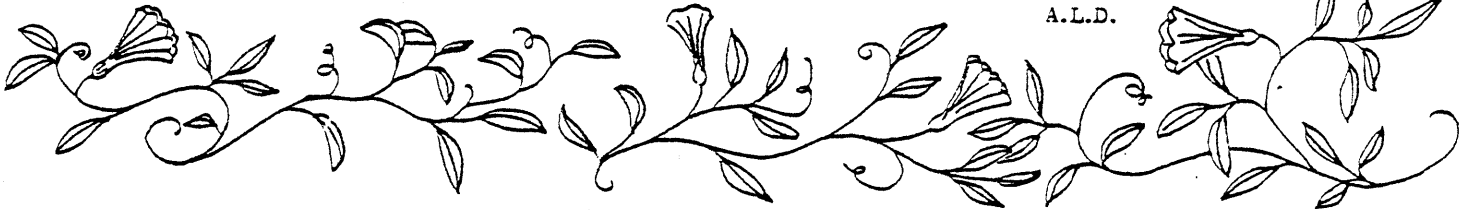

At the end of the first week we feel very successful. The children and teachers are pleased. We had our first Parent-Teachers Association meeting to choose a Board of Directors, so that we can incorporate and become legal. Father will be our spiritual advisor. Pam Letourneau will be our first President of the Board of Education, Judy Kovalaskie Vice President, Carolyn Cugini Treasurer, Anna Lynn Dayton Secretary. Yamuna will be Kindergaden Representative, Connie Autori Preschool Representative, and Anna Lynn and Judy will double as Representatives for the Primary School.

We have decided to give the children the education they want and need, free from the traumas of public education as it exists today. The first week's observation has revealed some wonderful insights. As our story develops, we will report the true life experiences of Siva Kalpa education.

EDITOR'S REPORT:

This issue marks the beginning of our second year of publication. With over 300 copies distributed monthly, both at home and abroad, the newsletter has apparently become a Siva Kalpa institution. Encouragement for continued publication has been surprisingly strong, so we proceed with Volume II, hoping you all enjoy it. It would be nice to have more regular news from the Foundation centers overseas. Also, those who haven't already, are requested to please renew their subscriptions so that funds for printing and mailing, as well as occasional office expenses, will be covered. Since our press date seems to fluctuate each month, we are expanding the calendar to one and a half months this time. Looking forward to hearing from and printing all of you divine forms around the world, we remain your editorial staff -- John Morton, Nancy Collins and Anna Lynn Dayton.

Dear Corinne,

Amalah and Frank are wonderful hosts. We've been rapping alot with them and feeling very at home. The height of the summer is past so it is warm with the nice breezes. The children love it, goats, rabbits chickens, pigs, so much to play with and learn about. Bernadette and Angsu are in love. He loves all the attention from all the little goddesses too. Bernard is also with the children, they like him alot. Friday we all got to watch our dinner being prepared from the beginning. Jean- Jacques killed and skinned two of the rabbits. Anu and Adrian were fascinated and Anu a bit concerned about it, he wasn't sure he liked to eat something you had to kill. Anyway it made a very tasty dinner. Jonathan and Anne ( from Ireland) came that day. They're on their way to Algeria to teach English. Really nice to see them again. We all went to the beach on Saturday, what a beautiful sea coast! I'm so happy to be near the ocean again, and to be out of the big cities!

MARSEILLE * Sept. 13, 12th Year Siva Kalpa * SARADA

Back again at La Pounche easing into the slow natural rhythm of country life. It is only apparant stillness, as the dynamic powerful personalities who share this space provide more than enough exciting energy sharing their evolution together. Since coming here I have slowly begun to differentiate the individual stages and planes of cognition behind the warm blanket of love and hospitality. Richard and Kamalah are here, staying at Bernard's. He is away at the Alpes house with Mamy, Robert and Christian (a friend). Chantal came this morning with her delicate little girl. Renée and children are also here.

We spent the past weekend in Monte Carlo, dipping into the lives of Johnny and Meredith and son Atom. The place is so lovely - the straight up white cliffs with houses clinging to them on all sides - grand mansions and sparkling sea, a feeling of wealth and decadence pervades the beauty. The sun was so hot that the natural move was towards the beach where we spent a good deal of time. Meredith craved female companionship, so I provided myself as a sounding board for her expression.

As of this day I don't know the next move. Possibly Spain, possibly further. I am waiting for the feeling to move but as of now it hasn't come clear. I do love the clan here and enjoy watching the children in a country space. Knowledge comes naturally here with no books necessary to explain the wonders of life. I am beginning to learn my own moods and rhythms more clearly. Past memories are focusing.

Please tell Margie Meyers I received her letter and everyone enjoyed the news. I'm really looking forward to the newsletter. Give my love to Father and the children, to all - Bom Shankar Bholenath -

Dear Nancy,

Greetings from the land of Allah! Shushi bean is sitting on my lap at the Cafe Central, the best place for watching the show while drinking mint tea. He looks like a Moroccan baby so he's been well loved, given candies, even an offer to buy him! We're taking the ferry boat back to Spain in an hour. Lots of stories to share when I get back. Happy 13th Year, love you lots...

Dear Caroline,

Just realized that I never acknowledged receipt of your note, thank you. We are here sitting at an open cafe just inside this gate. What an incredible place! Akin to the Indian Market but with its own very particular flavor- I'm very glad I got to experience a new place. Linda took Anu and Adrian back to London from Marseille so we'd be able to travel easy.

We'll begin the way back this evening by bus to Tangiers, boat to Spain etc. Hope to be in London in a week to ten days then visit there a bit longer, hopefully a trip to Sussex to see Martin and Phil's new place. So see you soon,

Love, Sarada

RICH MEYERS

Sept. 27th, 13th Year S.K.

Hot, driven wild by flies and husslers.. we've reached the terminus of our journey. Fez is an intense primitive dessert city with the largest and most confusing maze Medina I have ever seen. The feeling is disquieting, formidable and impervious to all non- Arabs--the other side of the coin, the mysterious Moslem coin. Anyway its all mind- blowing, no sensation blowing--being jostled down dense market cobblestone alleys, shoved by donkeys and horses past mosques and under mosaic arches. We're along way from the Riviera which is a long way from Paris--that's the point, we are changing worlds so fast it fuzzes the lines of memory. We can be invited along with a caravan of Berber merchants to trade among the villages of the Atlas Mountains. I guess its time to head back, collect our children and luggages, and commit this North African tapestry to memory...

Love, Rich

MARSEILLE *** Sept. 23, 13th Year *** KAMALAH

My dearest Corinne - Happy New Year! It's such a long time that I have been thinking of writing you. How are you? And Swasti? Sarada, Rich and Angsu left three days ago for Spain and Morocco, to be back here after ten days. Linda left the same day for London with Anu and Adrian.

Tony arrived in Paris, called Amalah, and we hope to see him here soon. I am really happy that he is spending some time in France, I feel his presence will be a great help for all, and hope that he will love our country and help reveal her greatness.

Jean-Jacques and Bernadette are still together and happy. He is starting construction of a bathroom. All the children here are going to school together, and we have gotten a bus stop at Chemin de la Ribassière, which is very practical.

I travelled around a lot this summer with Richard, visit- in the Family and friends, and hope to create more stable circumstances here. I plan to go to Burgundy soon, but Richard hasn't decided yet, so we will see in the days that come.

Love to you and Father and all around you. B.S.B.

KAMALAH

CLUNY, FRANCE * Sept. 27, 13th Year * TONY AUTORI

It took two weeks to get to Paris from S.F. Managed to work all the way. Everyone in L.A. feels well. They hardly wanted me to leave. With the exception of Val's slow recovery all in England feel okay as well. Ten of the English Family got together on the 19th for an Indian meal followed by music and musing of what 13th Year will be like. Can't help but feel it will be a year of regard and working together. Realizing just how long we know each other, and how well!

Paris is facinating, but... If they could put toll booths on the street corners and charge you for walking, I'm sure they would! Chelles is the inevitable solution to that. Everyone works. An active, productive lifestyle. All the children of age are at school every day. The Family is in constant touch with each other. Yet that French relaxation of pace is ever present. Calm, slow, easy...

After a perfectly marvelous week in Chelles, Shanti, Gilles and I rode to Cluny. We slept out on the site of the village, and awoke to a tour of the grounds. True, it's not really five houses. At the moment it's five stone shells of former houses. The work involved will be incredible. What a beautiful spot - at less than $3,000 the price is very right. It's going to be a long haul, but worth every minute. We will start by clearing the grounds, which should take a while. Meanwhile, Jean-Louis owns a bar to fix up and run when the weather is bad, and the fur business will arrive next month with Anna and Louis. These enterprises are needed to support construction. Everything is tight-knit! It will be a busy winter.

Tonight we dhuni at Jean-Louis' house and begin to meet some people in the area. It's different from Paris, to be sure. They don't charge extra to sit down at a table for your bottle of wine. People smile a lot more spontaneously. It's quiet. Good for poetry and contemplation. You feel like working hard as well.

Regards to everyone. B.S.B. - SUBALAH

YACKANDANDAH (AUSTRALIA) * Sept. 7, 12th Year * SUE S.

Dear Family - thanks to the brilliant energies of those who produce The Light is Yours, I can send our love to everyone. To me, the newsletter has brought to light the importance of communication. How I love to hear news of those I love and remember well and those that are coming into this Divine Family.

It's been two years since we were in S.F. for the Mahamilana, yet this time hasn't dulled my wonder and appreciation of our time there. I do feel badly at the lack of contact on our behalf, especially to those who hosted us so generously. Oh! how I wish everyone would come visit us in Yackandandah.

For our part, we are very happy, things are starting to liven up with Spring. Apart from building a new kitchen and renovating the house, Haldane has been painting various shops and buildings in the town, he is literally painting the town. Lindy is eight now and attends the local school, she is enjoying the arts of reading, writing and arithmetic. Tilly is fourteen months and walking. She is a pure delight.

Bob and Lisa and their twelve-month-old son Thain are expecting a new baby in January. They are living a few minutes walk away, they will be swapping houses with Di and Finny from Melbourne, for a month. Julie, Bob's sister, is also living quite close, both Julie and Bob have been working in one of the two local hotels in town. All in all quite a merry bunch.

So the many friends that have come to know of Father and the Family, are always assured of smiling faces and good country hospitality.

I have now applied to my bankers for permission to send a monthly donation to the Foundation in Calcutta, which should make everything clear and simple. I shall let you know the outcome in my next letter.

All goes pretty well here, Phil and Martin have moved into their new home, which is great news, and we all spent last Sunday down there celebrating with them. The location is great for the kids as they are quite away from the roads, with fields all around. The garden is like a jungle at the moment but with plenty of hard work it will become pretty. There are a couple of ready made, but overgrown, dhuni spots already there. Love eternally to you all, B.S.B.

ONTARIO, CANADA

MICHAEL A. WALTHER

September, 19th, 13th Year Siva Kalpa

Dearest Father and family,
I'm writing to inform you that a long-time aspiration is coming to fulfillment. I've met but a few Canadians that know of Father's presence and the existence of the Foundation of Revelation. It came as a revelation to me in 1973, 7th Year, when I came to Scott St. for the first time in the company of Tom Wilson. We had thumbed across Canada, were unwillingly admitted under false pretence by the U.S. Immigration Authorities, and trained into Oakland, then to S.F. Our pilgrimage had just begun.

We stayed with our hosts, Steve and Honey-Rose Sunshine. While Tom stayed as their guest, I moved from one household to another, absorbing the many good feelings and witnessing the manifestation of God. Need I say more to describe the ecstasy?

It was Sheila U.S.A. that came into the office one day as I was reading letters. She talked to me very motherly saying that my maverick days would soon be over. She sang Re-Evolution to me; I was absolutely soothed.

When the magic seemed over and I found myself hitching a ride in Berkely to where I am now, full of Divine love, effortlessly transported across the U.S. of A. and arriving home in only four days. I say the magic seemed over, but all the while, I was on the road.

An aspiration had formed, waiting for the right time to manifest. Two years ago while again visiting Scott St., I told Father that there is no Foundation Center in Canada. He nodded, and said, "Make one!"

Well I hope and pray that it will be done with divine guidance, right here in Ontario...

In Your Service,
Michael

A toast to our Father who is always here
That moment of rebirth
He makes so clear
By the beauty of consciousness
in all the forms here
Manifesting His knowledge of love
instead of fear
Eternal life is the goal and love is the key
Thank you for spending my birthday with me....

MINNEAPOLIS SEPT. 14, 12th YR. MICHAEL TAYLOR

Dear Family,

Bom Shankar Bholenath. Our trek has now brought us to experience the gracious hospitality of the Minneapolis family, a warm and welcome feeling after a, to say the least, long drive through five different states south of here. There are six children here now including Forrest, Pat and Rosie's beautiful daughters Chandra, Alicia and Sasha - their son, Arlic, Rolf and Adi's son Reier (pron. Rire). The three boys tend to be rather formidable at times. They make Dennis the Menace look like a sissy. The Hutchinson family - Tom, Suzanne, Justin, Solomon and baby Elizabeth feel great, recovered after the traumatic experience of Elizabeth having heart surgery at two months.

Before Minneapolis our travels have been quite extensive. At the beginning of the year we left New Zealand with Jamie, Vicki and Gabrielle Urquhart to visit Australia for 3 months. Sherry played piano Family Band to help produce their latest tape "Awakening". Only a fool will neglect to buy a copy of this beautiful music, guaranteed to give the listener goose bumps. The Band, with the compliments of Sherry's keyboard/vocals, Tony Autori's singing voice oiled by Fosters Lager and the Shivettes matured sound has produced the best musical feeling yet. Today Sherry received her birthday copy, thanks Tim. At that time in Australia there was a real feeling of synthesis of international natures and personalities, as there were divine forms from five different countries present.

We then flew to Los Angeles to be greeted by the beautiful feeling of our family there. Then we went on to Albuquerque to visit Sherry's parents and present Forrest who is their first grandchild. His feeling of love made it possible for us to stay there six weeks. Again the power of babies was revealed to me. Forrest wouldn't flinch when confronted by negative feelings, instead he would dissolve those feelings with a grin. We re-established several relationships with Sherry's old friends. One of them, Bruce Lewis, is making a documentary on water in New Mexico (Water, and the lack of it, is a controversial issue there) and he asked Sherry to record her instrumental "Love Song" (from the tape "Awakening") for a helicopter shot of the Rio Grande river. To do the recording we had to travel 50 miles through a thunderstorm. At one point we were almost washed off the road by a river of water. In Albuquerque we bought a VW van which is a great service, our magic bus, and in that we travelled on to Texas to visit with Sherry's sister Pam and husband Dennis. We had a real special time with them and their friends. Dennis has some land in New Mexico and wants to build a family-type community there. Then to Houston to visit Robbie, Joyce, Stacy and David. First time we'd been with direct family for a while and so it was a very inspirational time. Robbie must get a gold star for "Mr. Inspiration" of the year award and Joyce, too, is so beautiful. I had a real education in business. Robbie's feeling, knowledge and application of it is invaluable to our family. After Houston, we travelled back to Fort Worth, meeting a family couple from Rochester, Nancy and John Sedin and children. We had them over to a farewell party at Dennis and Pam's. Now, we go to Colorado and San Francisco. Through this, and those times there feels to be a growing feeling of excitement with the family moving in a new and positive direction. The second wave is happening. Business seems to be one of the strongest energies, particularly amongst the gods. Perhaps the theme for 13th year is "DO IT"! Get into activity, fulfill our imaginations, (Father gave us that power) and do it intelligently. Instead of being poor and happy, we will be wealthy and happy. It hasn't been easy to apply the real idea of truth and service to an ignorant business world but time is allowing it to be easier. Sherry and I send our love to y'all wherever you may be. Special love to Jamie, Vicki and Gabriel in NZ and the Australian family. B.S.B.

THE WHITNEYS

September 12, 12th Year Siva Kalpa

Enclosed is the $7 collected this month, for India. There's not as much collected this month as last, but at least there's something. I sent last months directly to India Foundation, but will continue sending further months to San Francisco.

Fall is definitely arriving. The nights are cooler, the leaves are changing color and school is upon us once again. We have found a new school closer to our home this year. I am volunteering a couple of days a week, one of which I will be taking the school ice skating. Bodhi is going to do an afternoon a week at the school doing improvisational acting with the children. Tom has worked out an exchange of tuition for school remodeling, which is alleviating the financial pressures we felt last year from school. You really have to pay $$ to avoid the public school system here.

The family here is all doing the best we can remembering Father in all we say and do.

We've seen quite a bit of Claudia lately who has been coming down from Gunnison and staying with Ken, Beth and Ted.

Ken and Ted are hunting now, hoping to fill the freezer with Elk and/or Deer for the winter. Beth is beautiful with child and getting ready to quit work and nest before baby arrives.

We've made a couple of trips to Woodland Park and had some good times with Brian, Shawnee and Jamie.

Much love and kisses to all of you from all of us. Bom Shankar Bolenath!

August 18, 1978

Dear Fellow Members of the State Bar:

I would like to direct your attention to the two front page articles in your April/May 1978 copy of "Reports". They give a preview of the State Bar of California's 51st annual meeting taking place in San Francisco the week of September 8-13. The articles state that approximately 5,000 lawyers and judges will assemble to discuss and debate some 235 tough issues dealing with legal matters, as well as moral, social, and political considerations.

This year's conference resolutions are contained in a book weighing close to four pounds. There is a resolution which would put a law student on the Board of Governors of the State Bar and pay each Board member $50.00 a day up to $500.00 a month for the conduct of State Bar business. Another would raise the jurisdiction of small claims court to $2,000.00 and would permit both parties to appeal. There is a resolution to permit the sale of beer and wine to persons 18 years and over. And another which asks the State Bar to support an economic boycott of non-ERA states.

This letter is not written as a criticism of any of the resolutions, or the delegates and lawyers who will be in attendance at the annual meeting to debate them and vote on them.

Instead, it is to voice my concern over the widening gap between the original premise of law and lawyering, and law as it is now being developed and practiced.

Why do we, as lawyers, keep getting involved in more and more complications? And, more importantly, why does public respect for lawyers decline with each passing annual meeting even though we have proposed four pounds of resolutions to improve the manner in which we perform our duties?

Based on my experience of 18 years of successfully practicing law I suggest it is because we have forgotten the basic purpose of law and the role of the lawyer.

The purpose of law is protective and corrective. It is to maintain peace and order at any given period of time, and therefore, must be responsive to changes in society's needs.

In order to maintain a happy peaceful population each person must feel that the legal system will treat him justly. Let us search for ways to improve the representation of all people regardless of their financial conditions rather than condemn the efforts of those attorneys who are trying to provide such services.

The newadvertising rules could include information dispensed by the State Bar to inform the public of their individual rights as well as their obligations to others.

As lawyers we must use our time and energy to solve the problems of court congestion. We must suggest alternative methods of settling disputes such as neighborhood justice centers and arbitration system.

We should take the time to listen to our young people who have many questions about the legal system today particularly with regard to prosecution for the use of certain drugs which have not been proven to be any more harmful than the legal drugs nicotine and alcohol. We might begin by supporting drug research as well as drug education classes in schools and prisons.

And let us not lose sight of the real role of a lawyer as arbitrator, peacemaker, and protector. A lawyer's responsibility is to bring parties to a point of agreement. Whether the lawyer is handling a business dispute, a family matter or a criminal action he must serve society as a protector of the relationships and the self respect of the parties.

Now is the time to question the adversary system as it is being practiced today. In a system where one party wins, the other party must lose. In order to win, some lawyers are acquiescing to clients who can afford to buy justice by using distorted facts and delay tactics. Others, particularly in family law, use the emotional insecurities of the parties to divide relationships, even where there are children who are the products of those relationships, in order to gain an unfair advantage for the client.

Lawyers who win, whatever their methods, are rewarded with big fees and reputations. We must think of resolutions which will make it as profitable in terms of money and prestige for the lawyers to bring about agreement between parties as it now is to cause dissension.

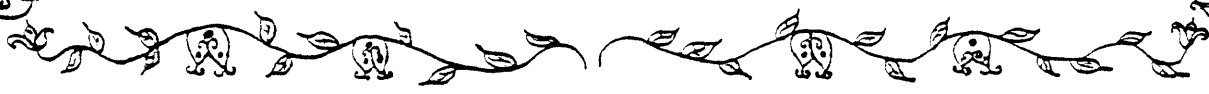

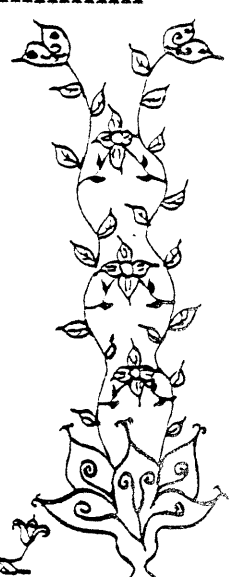

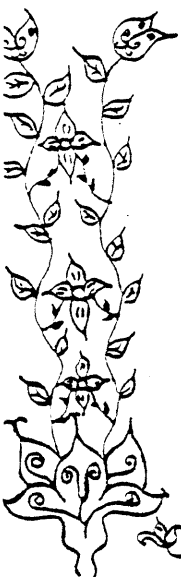

I strongly urge that you do not disregard the contents of this letter. And that you take time to meditate on these issues.

RESPONSIBILITY IS GREATNESS . . . . .

My warmest regards,
ALAN K. SCHWARTZ

LOOKING AT BOTH SIDES... by Schizophrenic Sue

Giving Gays Rights, not that I'm against it, but it's hard to find a place to rent these days in S.F.

if you're one of those rare breeds of homosapiens, known as Heterosexuals, who have children of all things. Our great Supervisor, Milk tied his hands recently when asked to intervene regarding a two story vacancy, whose agents had flatly refused 7 families...the owners fired two agents and hired an attorney for of law suits. He said, "I don't have to rent to anybody". A friend of mine who is absolutely staight was walking up the street and was propositioned by a gay who wanted him to come up and see how nice they were fixing up the homes in the neighborhood.. Fine, so are we, but the more we fix up , the more our rents sky rocket.

Did you happen to see the cover of HIGH TIMES magazine this month?.. sporting Jimmy Carter, snorting coke??? I called the State Dept. one quiet eve... about 2 a.m., Carter was out of town, and a young gent from Zbiggy's office answered. We had a nice conversation...he went on to tell all about the great quality of coke and grass they get in D.C.. It's okay Dr. Peter, they're taking ludes off the market, maybe if you're good you can have you're job back.

Our children are doing a great job of keeping the dog droppings off the sidewalks... You've got to run, not walk, and peek around the corners to avoid the bigwheels, skates and skateboards.

Perhaps we'll be able to help Duboce Park with that $200,000 grant and build a skateboard park.. what does our Mayor do with the City funds?

Our choir leader has taken the role of a good German deacon.. rehearsals daily at 8:30 sharp...

His house mouse, Stanley ( a practicing Brahmachari) wnen asked to do his discipline duties with the off key tenors.. recently comitted suicide, or else Rosie the cat ate him.. Well as a tribute, Lou has decided to follow in his foot steps, and lay off everything until God gives him the perfect job.

I saw a sign in a restaurant recently: 'God isn't dead.. He's just not interested...Not true, He's watching everything you do.. closely.

Why?.. if more people are bussing it, skating, jogging.. and with gas at 70¢ a gallon, are there more cars than ever in S.F...? and Why? when it rains does the price of produce go up??

BOBBY WEIDLICH

Bom Shankar Bholenath - hi to everyone. It's me high on the inside looking out thinking of all who have looked in with support throughout this ordeal. Thank you all for the chance to change and to feel you all and the family's love and support. I've needed every bit to realize and make it through this period of transition with a full amount of love, dignity and self-respect. All my feelings I attribute to the love of Father, his love in revealing knowledge among us all, of a much higher order of existence on earth. ## RECIPES

It is easiest to make ghee in a wok. Melt 1# sweet butter (unsalted) over a medium flame, stirring constantly. When it starts to boil, reduce heat slightly and continue stirring. Ghee is ready when the milk solids (tiny white particles) start to turn gold. Use a stirring spoon in which you can see the color of the particles easily. Remove from heat immediately. Strain through a thin cotton cloth. Save the cooked solids for making ghee candy.

For this amount of solids use a half gallon of milk. Wipe the wok clean with your straining cloth. Bring milk to boil and reduce to simmer. Stir constantly until milk reaches the consistency of cream (about 45 minutes). Stir in milk solids from the ghee. Simmer stirring about 5 minutes and stir in 1 1/2 C white sugar. Continue stirring over low flame until thick. Cool and form into 3/4" balls.

Eggplant-Tomato Juice Curry for 4-6

Cut 1 large eggplant in 1" slices and then halves. Keep in water for a half hour or so then drain for 5 minutes on dish towel. Pulverize 1 chopped onion in blender (add 1/4 C water to facilitate blender action). Mash a 1" piece of ginger (this can be done with a garlic press). Fry eggplant pieces with lots of oil until golden. Reserve. In 1/4 C ghee over low heat fry piece of stick cinnamon, 3 cloves and 1 crushed cardamom pod. When spices start to brown, add onion; when onion starts to turn golden, add ginger. Stir, then add 1 C tomato juice and 1/2 t salt, turmeric, 1/4 t cayenne. Add eggplant and simmer covered for 5 minutes. Remove cover and simmer until eggplant is soft and juice is absorbed.

Mushroom and Potato Curry for 6-8

Quarter 6 small potatoes or cut 4 medium or 2 large ones into 1 1/2" cubes. Wipe 1 1/2# mushrooms clean with a damp cloth. To maintain uniform size, cut larger ones in half or quarters. In 1/4 C hot oil, fry 1 bay leaf, 2 red chilis and 1/2 t white cumin seeds. When spices start to brown, add potatoes and stir fry until a translucent shell forms on potatoes. Add mushrooms and stir fry until they begin to soften and turn black. Stir in spices (1 1/2 t salt, 1 t coriander, 1 t cumin, 1/2 t turmeric, and 1/4 t cayenne). Stir until all pieces are evenly coated with spices. Add water almost to cover and bring to a boil. Simmer covered about 15 minutes or until potato is done. Stir in 1 T ghee or sweet butter and 1/4 t ground sweet spices (cinnamon, cardamom seeds, and 1 clove—fresh ground if possible) mixed with a little milk.

VARIATION: omit sweet spices and add 1 1/2 tomatos quartered along with the salt and basic 4 spices.

No Place For Complacency

Our Forest Knolls Foundation, the Thelin family, is waging a battle in the war against ignorance. Ignorance of what? Ignorance of the consequences of splitting the atom. The consequences are well documented but the inertia of greed is trying to obscure the truth. We are confident that truth when spoken is self evident and will triumph. So follows the story of the defense of Marysville, Ca. by the Thelin family and other awakened citizens.

Sept. 5, 12th Year Siva Kalpa

Dear Beloved Goddesses at World Headquarters,

Enclosed is a letter I wrote to my mom this morning. I visited her this past weekend, and she told me that our home town is being considered for our Country's atomic waste dump. Yuba City and Marysville, two little towns that are located where the Yuba and Feather Rivers meet and then flow south for 50 miles to Sacramento and join the American River, are right next to the possible site. It is one of the main agricultural centers in the Sacramento Valley.

The exact dump site being considered is in the middle of the Sutter County Buttes, the place we used to climb as children, but which have been off limits for 20 years as it became more strategic, since nearby Beale Air Force Base increased in size and other bases were closed up around our Golden State. About 15 or 20 years ago, big cement silos were built in the middle of this beautiful miniature mountain range for giant missiles. The missiles never materialized, but the silos are still there. No one goes up around there, but lookers for the site like the looks of these empty things.

Anyway, my mom has asked me to help, so enclosed is a letter asking how I may be of service. Imagine! Wanting to dump the stuff on our land! I remember when I was little, my grandpa used to take us to S.F. from Marysville and along the way he would point out all the cows and horses and land, and divide it up amongst us... and we would all be so happy... Anyway, my divine regards to our Father and all of you. Love,

MARSHA (Thelin)

Congressman Joan Burton
Washington, D.C.

Dear Mr. Burton,

I am 14 years old and a freshman in high school here in Marin County. I am writing to you because I am concerned about a very important and dangerous matter.

The time I have grown up in has been the time of nuclear energy, and nuclear energy has been bad news from the beginning. As it happens, there is now nuclear waste. There is no known safe place to dump or bury this nuclear waste. The government has now located a spot it thinks suitable for disposal of these wastes in the Sutter Buttes, the smallest mountain range in the world, near the small town of Marysville, California.

Well, I don't think it's suitable at all. It just so happens many of my relatives live in the exact area. My mother and grandmother were born there. At the present time my grandmother, grandfather, aunt, uncle and seven cousins, two of my great grandmothers and many friends are all living there.

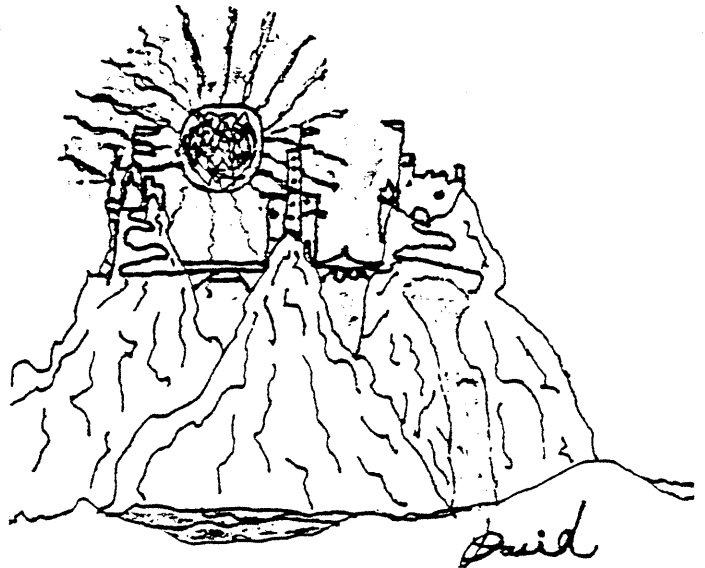

My concern is that I don't want this nuclear poison dumped near my family's home town in an unsafe manner. So far no one on earth has found a safe manner of dumping it. I think this is a morose and inconsiderate thing to do. Marysville is a small town but the area is a large agricultural center. The proposed site in the Buttes cannot hold the waste safely without it eventually leaking all over the area. The people don't deserve to have such a thing to worry about.

The challenge to me and my generation is to stop the use of nuclear energy. The world has done without it for thousands of years. The practical thing to do is to stop the mining of uranium, then no more bombs can be made and then we could concentrate on just how to dispose of the waste we've already got.

If you could help in any way, we would all appreciate it very much.

Sept. 12, 12th Year Siva Kalpa, 1978

Mr. Eric Grunder
c/o The Appeal Democrat
Marysville, CA

Dear Eric,

My wife and I visited her mom and dad over Labor Day weekend and they showed us your article about the Sutter Buttes as a possible nuclear waste disposal site. To date only one letter has appeared in the paper in response to the article, and that was authored by my wife's mom, Mrs. Helen Liss.

Having read your report a number of times I've been struck by your excellent research, expressed in the best tradition of responsible journalism: fair, impartial with all the facts. But I am not writing as a journalist, and as you can see from the piece on the reverse side of this letter (Anna Lynn's article, "Past and Future History and the Perils of Nuclear Power"), I am definitely partial. I would even go so far as to say I'm informed!

Which is why I am writing to you. I'm hoping you can help me with some more information. You quote Mr. Baietti as saying, "It is so preliminary I wouldn't want anyone to think we are actually considering it." Then you go on to point out that over eight months ago, on Jan. 3, state officials received a one and one half page letter from ICI asking that the company be allowed to develop a site somewhere in the State. Not until the latter part of August do we find out that three sites have been examined closely and the Sutter Buttes is considered the best of the three. If that's not active consideration, I don't know what is! You go on to reveal that the only reason the public found out about it was because the State Senate killed a moratorium bill, supported by the State Department of Health, that would have suspended all site development activity until two Federal agencies, the Environmental Health Agency and the Nuclear Regulatory Commission, complete their current studies to determine what type of criteria should be applied to nuclear disposal sites.

Something is fishy in Sacramento! The feeblest intelligence can perceive the wisdom of a moratorium until the EPA and NRC conclude their studies.

Could you help me in this way? Given the Freedom of Information Act, I thought you might have a copy of the one and one half page letter that International and Chemical Irvine sent to State officials on Jan. 3. And is there a chairman of a Senate Committee that recommended voting against the bill?

One other thing. Since there seems to be a shortage of positive and healthy ideas of what to do with the abandoned Titan missile silos (a modern problem that in a world of agreement and understanding will challenge many creative minds), may I pass on to you one idea a friend suggested? Use them as a methane digester. Put wet garbage in them. The garbage becomes fertilizer, the gas of decomposition is methane, which I understand has only one carbon molecule.

Hoping to hear from you, and may God be with you,

RONALD E. THELIN

FAMILY BUSINESS.....by Robby Young

September 26th, 13th Year

Dear Family,

Since there now seems to be a general family interest in starting and maintaining pragmatic family businesses, I would like to share what limited practical knowledge I have realized about business during the past several years. Following is some specific information about starting and maintaining a business. If put into action, I believe it represents the quickest and most sound way to begin and run a successful family business. It may seem somewhat limiting to some people, but it is a clear way to start. If we begin at our limit, we will exceed it- but we have to begin and we have to begin at some point. I hope this will be helpful. I love this family and have infinite faith in our ability to materialize divine imagination as a service to the world.

Robby Young
Houston, TexasTHE PRINCIPLE OF STARTING AND MAINTAINING A BUSINESS

1. See the NEED to act
2. Understand the BASIS for business is the collective mind
3. Remember the PURPOSE of business is to provide a service
4. Define the OBJECTIVES of the business
5. Identify the ELEMENTS needed to meet the objectives
6. Develop a PLAN to meet the objectives
7. Identify the ELEMENTS needed to implement the plan
8. SECURE the elements
9. IMPLEMENT the plan
10. REVIEW the working plan and MODIFY as needed

I. THE BASIS

Aspiring to achieve the collective mind through a feeling of mutual love and self respect, forms the basis for the activity of business.

The collective mind or the union of two or more minds, stems from a feeling of agreement and understanding, which comes from an applied feeling of love and self respect. This collective mind is the very core of life of a business. Without this unity the activity of business is limited by fragmented individualized egos. With this unity the activity becomes an instrument of the creator and is limited only by time.

(A) Everyone involved in the business must be consciously aware of the value and importance of the collective mind and agree to aspire to strive for its achievement within the business.

(B) Everyone involved in the business should always agree on the PURPOSE and the OBJECTIVES of the business; as well as the PLAN to meet the objectives, the way the plan is IMPLEMENTED, and should take part in the REVIEW and MODIFICATION of the working activities of the business.

II. THE PURPOSE

The purpose of business is to provide a service. It is the reason for the activity. This purpose should always be the goal and end result of all business activity and should be impregnated into all activities of the business. Everyone involved should have the feeling of providing a service and also the feeling of being served.

III. LANGUAGE

To expect agreement within a business, the purpose, the objectives, and the plan of the business must be understood and communicated very clearly and constantly.

(A) Everyone involved should clearly understand what he is expected to do and should clearly communicate what he expects others to do.

(B) All areas of responsibility must be clearly identified and defined in terms of the quality and quantity of work to be performed within each area.

(C) The best forum for this clarity is through regular meetings for the purpose of achieving the collective mind through communication.

III. ORGANIZATIONGetting Started

Once the basis and purpose are established the rest is formal materialization. Simply stated- decide what you want to do, what it takes to do it, do it, and evaluate what you did.

(A) The best way to begin the formal materialization is to take one step at a time, materialize the idea in writing, evaluate it and clarify it until it is perfectly clear and agreed upon, then go on to the next step.

(B) Finances- The above being done, all sound business then begins with establishing a six-month budget, estimating the amount of money you expect to spend versus the amount of money you expect to receive every month for the next six months. This should be done very thoroughly and without haste. When this is done you should know how much goods or how much services you must sell to support the everyday expenses of the business and produce a profit after all materials and expenses are paid. If you have to borrow money to get started, remember that loans are paid back out of net profits- what is left after all expected and unexpected material costs and expenses are paid. To borrow effectively you should have a very clear, specific plan to repay the loan on time as promised, which will establish trust with your creditors, who will very likely lend you more money in the future.

Maintaining a Business

What really maintains a business is the continuing need of the service being provided and the continuing aspiration to provide the service by the individuals involved. The people involved have to believe and have faith in what they are doing and not give up their faith when confronted with apparant obstacles. Everyone should agree to provide whatever energy it takes to materialize the agreed-upon imagination and demonstrate that agreement through action. With the basis and purpose established, constant application of will is the main ingredient to a successful business.

(A) Financial Controls - as with starting a business, maintaining a sound business begins with a monthly budget of expenses and income. An adequate record needs to be kept on all incoming bills to insure their prompt payment. At the end of the month the actual amount of income and the actual amount of expenses need to be compared to the budgeted amount and any differences need to be analysed and understood. This accounting (for income and expenses) provides a business with clear, factual information from which the business is able to budget or estimate more effectively in the future.

(B) Problems - Every business has apparant problems. Without apparant problems business would become so boring it would cease to exist. All problems should be addressed separately, squarely and honestly; the cause should be identified, agreement should be reached on a solution, and the solution should be implemented. It is very important to follow through with the agreed-upon solution. Then evaluate the effectiveness of the agreed-upon solution and act accordingly. The main thing to remember about problems is that they should be approached with the belief that they can be solved.

Apparant problems create the need for communication which enables the collective mind to be perfected.

SEPTEMBER SPLENDOR IN GOLDEN GATE PARK ... by Marjorie Meyers

Long before the sun shot its first shaft of light across the room, I experienced a curious sensation of well-being, not just within myself but in the world around me. God's presence permeated it. Around the planet, others would be marking our phenomenal entry into the 13th year of Lord Siva's blissful imagination with joy. In San Francisco, a picnic in the park was planned for 1 o'clock but omens of the highest order were already occurring: At U.C. Med Center, the goddess Padma gave birth to Gloria Mae Ella Garner. On the waterfront at Pier 4, the most beautiful of the 142 vessels of the Madame Camay Shipping Line, the new Indian freighter "Strait of Trapura" was being christened with champagne. It was met by Nancy Collins, Nando Karmakar and Bob who intended to bring some of the crew to the picnic. Instead, they were asked to join them for evening cocktails.

Plumes of water winked from sprinklers placed everywhere in the park except the site we'd decided on. From the bright patches of blankets the lilting sound of many Gungas flowed in ecstasy of expression. The exuberant clamor of many childish voices wafted from a small wooded area. Just about every youngster in the Family was perched on the gnarled limbs of a low sprawling tree. The more they bounced up and down, the more the branches swayed like an enormous accordian. Our magical teepee was put up in record time by seasoned young campers. From it spewed sacred smoke and the sound of bagpipes. Weber Everyone seemed so exhilarated just being there in the sunshine together for the first day of the new year that it took some time before they gravitated to the shady nook across the meadow where an epicurean spread of delicacies awaited them. Crunchy chickens; plump roasts; casseroles; fruit floats and veggie salads; Indian treats were to be had. On another table were berry, pumpkin, apple and lemon meringue pies; cakes of all heights and flavors of frosting; fresh fruits and a formidable battery of Coca Cola cases. An open bottle of champagne remained untouched on the table for over an hour. It became evident one would have to stay until darkness fell to do it all justice.

Several brand new babies were making their formal debut: Catherine Daphanie Lelani Pixley snuggled in the crook of her mother's arms. (Not everyone had noticed anything different about Judy until she stood up revealing a flat tummy and a baby blanket). Not so with Shyamali and Dennis Kalfas. All the little bridesmaids were lined up to hold her little daughter Virginia Drisanna. (News travels faster down from Oregon than it does around the block). Another little child we saw for the first time was Deliverance, son of Obedience and Imagination. This couple from the Love Family had driven down from Washington State with Sandra Stai and another Love couple, Wisdom and Resolve. Their blanket was a much frequented spot as each of us got caught once again in the loka of Love Inc.

Bobby Weidlich bounced onto the scene, looking shiny as a new-born. It seems his jail sentence in Santa Rosa is just a matter of where he hangs his cap for the night. A football appeared and just about every god sprang into action. Even two or three pre-teen girls insisted they be included. Father appeared sporting a natty tennis sweater and was promptly enticed into a walk in the woods with Shotsy. Some little girls were observed making painstaking passage across the lush meadow on roller skates. Some people napped while listening to the reassuring rumble of Jordan's congo drum. Others succumbed to baseball fever; everyone proving amazingly adept. Nancy Collins is never more at home than when she's on the pitcher's mound. Billy Gayton's mom, Irene, played the outfield with gusto; not even a run-in with a fast ball dimmed her spirits.

As dinner hour approached the outdoor grills were fired up and a ready supply of hotdogs and hamburgers rolled forth. The last rays of the sun brought to light an amazing observation before dipping below the horizon. A cloud of knots had descended upon us. It's true we already were gathering together our things to go but neither a tidal wave or a chasm in the earth's surface could stop the banter or the leisurely gait of our procession homeward. After all, we had just evolved into the 13th year of Siva Kalpa and had things to do!

HARIYANA, Part One, The Yoga of Dejection will be published this spring. Under the name of Omkara Press the author himself will oversee a first printing of approximately 3,000 copies. The individual Foundation Centers can benefit their treasury by becoming local distributors of this quality paperback edition. Heavy rains in Darjeeling in Oct, 1969 caused the location of a scheduled Spiritual Summit Conference to be moved to Calcutta. Father living only for Truth, was forced to beg a meager subsistence for His family in the Calcutta environs. He was more eagerly begging for love and understanding of that vision that had been communicated & entrusted to him over 2 years prior. Hearing that a group of spiritually earnest Westerners were to convene in Calcutta. He hastened to the Birla Academy of arts, in hopes that he might find audience & recognition of his vital message: the long sought millenium a new age of harmony & peace the ascendance into a divine imagination, Siva Kalpa was in fact already a reality evolving the earth plane through self-revelation. Amongst the 42 delegates that made up the Temple of Understanding, Inc., the American contingent to the Spiritual Summit Conference, was the young and beautiful Charlotte Wallace, who was openly receptive, curious and original enough. In her spiritual urge to experience the presence of divinity when on Oct 23 She encountered the otherwise neglected beggar in the lobby. With her acceptance... the glad tidings quickly spread... immediately to... Don McCoy, Sheila, Buzz and within the week to Chitraretra and Hari... Within the month to Lou Gottlieb Rena Morningstar Donovan Brass Bob Garcia all part of a second Spiritual tour to Calcutta. This group moved in mid Nov. to the home of the Roy Family a small mud hut in the village Gorkhara. More western seekers were drawn there, notably Simon Stock from England & 2 Australians, Daring Hennenberg & Ganga. For ten years now it has spread... amongst western hearts & minds... filling the sincere seeker with immortal bliss & creating the gods & goddesses of the new age... & it has just begun... Time is eternal and our goal absolute. Some most remember during this anniversary of our 1st decade together, that although, we have changed ourselves greatly already and the world has changed accordingly to our vision. There is much get to do. Surrender to the divine and aspiration for perfection is now and shall be decades hence as necessary, and sacred as it was in our beginning ten years ago... from the invocation to Part I of the Hariyana
